The Czar is threatened with being deposed. He may be lucky if he gets off that easy.

There is trouble brewing among the Sioux Indians. It is said they are buying automobiles.

It looks as though the cotton growers were "bulling" the market to get big prices for their last year's crop.

Thirteen deaths from heat in New York City in one day. The thermometer reached a maximum of 85 degrees.

The smaller the country the more revolutions they can make in a given time. Norway will be an illustration.

Hon. Robert S. Phillips of Tampa, it is stated, will be a candidate for Congress to succeed Hon. S. M. Sparkman.

At last they have found something to astound the people of Coney Island. Several were shocked by lightning a few days ago.

The United States mints are busy making money for our dependencies. It is nice to have some one supply you in ready cash.

The deaths from heat in New York alone in one day will exceed those from all diseases in the whole State of Florida for a week.

The moaning of the tide may be sweet music to some; but when the tied is a measly canine in a neighbor's back yard, it is different.

The cattle industry of South Florida is assuming greater proportions very rapidly, and when the timber is removed from the land there will be cattle to take its place and pay a good profit.

President Brown of the Tampa Mid-Winter Fair is in New York booking attractions. He will have the best things going and all classes may expect to see something worth seeing when they go to the fair.

The crop report issued by the State Department of Agriculture shows a good average of field crops throughout the State. Cotton, upland, is 82; Sea Island cotton, 86; corn, 90; sugar cane, 88. Many other crops show an equally high per cent.

Let the mantle of charity fall gently about Uncle John D. Rockefeller. He was so impressed with the sweet voice of a poor boy in a Cleveland Sunday school that he will pay for having his voice cultivated and support his widowed mother during the time.

The hotels and boarding houses in Portland, Oregon, have got the idea that they are the whole thing in the Lewis and Clark Exposition, and have even raised the prices on their regular boarders so high that they are obliged to take to tents in which to live.

A Breathitt county (Kentucky) man walked into church and said he was the best man in the house. The worshippers dropped their Bibles and came to "present arms" and two men were shot. The sheriff landed the shooter, John Miller, in jail before the mob could reach him.

AN EDUCATIONAL BUGABOO.

Under the heading of "An Educational Crisis," The Florida Christian Advocate tries to convey the idea that our young men from the public schools will not be able to enter the State University without a course at Sutherland or some other preparatory school, and Sutherland is its first choice.

The fact is that the graduates of the high schools of the State, where the twelve grades are taught, can enter the University without examination, on their diplomas from the high schools. This was one of the strong points of the Buckman bill, the idea being to place the various high schools of the State on a higher plane, so that people of moderate means would not be compelled to send their sons away from home to fit them for the University.

Students in the high schools, in order to graduate, must pass the twelfth grade, where such schools are on the University list, and in such schools there is no such thing as "undergraduates," as diplomas are only issued to those who have passed the course of study, while a young man who leaves school before graduation is only given his standing at that time.

There are several schools in the State which do not feel able financially to add the necessary teachers to raise their standing, and to this end the new school law provides a semi-annual appropriation of primary school money from the State to aid them.

There may be a few high schools of the State that will not be put on the University list at once, as there will be some time required to arrange the course of study that will place them there. But the object of the new law is to have this matter so arranged, and should some of the smaller ones not be prepared to do this at once, such students can graduate from any nearby high school as foreign students, where the tuition will be but nominal, and fit themselves to enter the State University at small cost to themselves or their parents or guardians.

THE SPIRIT OF LIBERTY.

Of all those who have made a study of the corporation problem it seems to us that United States Judge Grosscup reaches nearest the ideal in his discussion of the subject, says The Wall Street Journal. The ideal is not the destruction of the corporation, because of the evils which have developed in connection with its organization and conduct, but its preservation on account of the immense economic efficiency of which it is capable, and at the same time its rescue from autocratic or oligarchical control, making it truly republican in spirit as in form.

The spirit of the American people at this time is not the spirit of revenge. It is not the spirit of hatred. It is not the spirit of the destroyer. It aims not at the overthrow of property or of the social order. It is the spirit of liberty.

Judge Grosscup in his address before the Ohio Bar Association this week puts the ideal clearly to the front. "What creates our problem," he says, "is that under present corporate policies the instinct of independent manhood finds no field for exercise." He declares that the wish for a career, for individual independence, for some share of the world's inheritance, this is a part of human nature. What is wanted is to "peopleize the ownership of the corporation," to use a phrase employed by Judge Grosscup. Such a consummation as this cannot well be brought about in an hour or a day, or even in a year, or by any one legislative act, but our whole energies as a people, and our whole policy as a government should be directed to bring this about.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

The demand for building material throughout the country at the present time exceeds any time in the history of the country. A few years ago brick and lumber supplied the demand, with the exception of granite and a small amount of other building stone. The brick used were made of clay and there were plenty to supply the needs of all. Now we have the sand brick and the building stone made of Portland cement, and in many instances building interests are kept back from lack of material.

In this State the saw and planing mills are taxed to their utmost capacities to keep up with orders for lumber, and it would seem that in a few years the supply of timber would be exhausted.

In the lumber districts of the North trees that were considered worthless a few years ago are being worked up into lumber, head saws being used, so that the narrow cuts these saws make will save all that is possible, which is one board in eight in sawing inch stuff.

In the cities where high buildings are erected, so far this year the demand for structural steel exceeds that of the corresponding period of last year by at least 100 per cent, and the mills engaged in the rolling of heavy structural work find it almost impossible to make deliveries on specified dates.

With our rapid growth it is evident that we have room for all who come here, if the material for buildings to accommodate them can be supplied fast enough.

LOCAL PAPER FIRST.

Hearst's Chicago American of a recent issue contained the following editorial, which has created no little comment on the part of the press generally because of the fact that it shows a spirit of fairness which does not always characterize The American's editorials. It says:

"It would be a misfortune to the country if the few big papers in the big cities should interfere seriously with the publication of the valuable and intelligent local newspapers—for upon these local newspapers the welfare of the country very largely depends. The metropolitan daily cannot possibly know the needs of the various localities and small cities. Only the local newspapers can protect local needs and influence local opinion. Of course we are very glad to have as many people as possible read The Chicago American in the big cities and the little cities. But we hope that in every small town and every village there will be enough intelligence and public spirit on the part of the local inhabitants to support earnestly and enthusiastically the best local newspaper, giving encouraging approbation and a good living to the local editor, who alone can represent and defend justice and public spirit among his neighbors. The man is unfortunate who cannot afford to take two newspapers at today's prices. He who can afford only one newspaper, in our opinion, should display his sense of duty to his locality by taking the local newspaper."

The people of Tallahassee are very fortunate in securing the State Female College, and there is only one difficulty liable to arise at Gainesville, and that is the keeping of our boys in the University at home. The young man that would not be won by such an attraction has no business attending a university.

If, as General Sherman said, "War is hell," what must the railroad accidents be? During the months of January, February and March, 1905, 232 persons have been killed and 3,713 injured in railroad accidents.

When the peace envoys left Tokio they were cheered. When the Russian envoys left no one knows. They got out quietly to avoid the bombs.

Polk county commissioners have appropriated $2,000 for the State Fair exhibit of that county and will raise the amount if necessary.

Burial of Charles Hooks.

The funeral of Charles Hooks, the unfortunate colored man who met his death by an explosion of dynamite caps Tuesday, was held from his home at half-past 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, Rev. J. Chavis, pastor of the C. M. E. church, officiating.

Deceased was in the employ of the Baird Hardware Company for several years and was regarded by his employers as an industrious, reliable man. His death, especially under the sad circumstances, is deeply deplored.
